RUSSIA WATCHING JAPAN'S ARMY MOVE

Mobilization of Troops for Transportation to Korea Does Not So Far Constitute an Unfriendly Act.

PARIS, Oct. 5.—The Russian Government has made it known that Japan's mobilization of troops for transportation to Korea does not, up to to-day, constitute an unfriendly act against Russia. At the same time, the Russian Government is being kept fully advised as to the extent and nature of Japan's military and naval mobilization. It appears from these official sources that Japan thus far has embarked three divisions of troops and the Japanese fleet is now between Chemulpo and Pusan. The ships continue under steam, but nothing is known beyond this concerning their purpose. Baron de Rosen, the Russian Minister in Japan, has returned to Tokyo after an extended conference at Port Arthur last week with Admiral Alexieff, who was recently designated to assume supreme control of Russian interests in the Far East. The results of this conference are not known.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 5.—According to the Novykr, published at Port Arthur, the warlike attitude of Japan continues. The paper comments on the discrepancy between the Japanese assurance of their aspirations for a peaceful settlement of the differences in the Far East and Japan's secret preparations and military mobilization, as well as the continual orders for arms and warships, and says:

EX-CONVICT GETS 30 DAYS.

He Refused to Tell Commissioner Maher Where He Slept.

For refusing to tell Deputy Commissioner of Elections Maher where he had slept for two nights in succession William Hart, an ex-convict, was to-day sentenced to the penitentiary for thirty days by Justice Wyatt in the Court of Special Sessions.

When arraigned before Justice Wyatt Hart was thoroughly indignant and said:

"I was a Waldorf-Astoria guy I wouldn't have been arrested." Maher told the Court that he had summoned Hart to his office and knowing he was an ex-convict, asked him where he was sleeping nights. Hart refused to tell him except to say "the parks were good enough."

BOYS KILLED PLAYMATE.

Broke His Neck While Trying to Make Him Eat Sand.

WELIGH, Neb., Oct. 6.—The five-year-old son of Frederick Wagoner is dead as the result of an attempt made by two other young offenders, who will be arrested, to force him to eat sand and down his victim's throat accidentally dislodged a quantity of sand was found in the stomach.

Large fortunes are often lost by little delay.

Moral: Don't delay. Advertise NOW in the Sunday World.

MAY SAVE EYESIGHT OF YOUNG TARBELL

Princeton Student Who Was Assaulted at Monmouth Junction Hotel Is Reported by Physician to Be Improving.

Swift Tarbell, the Princeton student whose right eye was injured during a row at an inn in Monmouth Junction, N. J., is improving in the Manhattan Eye and Ear Infirmary, though physicians said to-day that it would be several days before they would be able to tell definitely whether the sight would be impaired.

Mr. Tarbell, Second Vice-President of the Equitable Life Company, father of the young man, to-day received notice from Prosecutor Voorhees, of New Brunswick, that charges against Arthur Mount, the innkeeper, who is said to have struck Tarbell, would be presented to the Grand Jury.

Mr. Tarbell has not yet decided to have counsel to assist in the prosecution. No trial of the case is likely until the injured young man shall have recovered.

ST. LOUIS FAIR ATTRACTS GERMANS

Berlin Ticket Agent Says 100 Will Go There for Every One Who Went to the Chicago Exposition in 1893.

(Copyright, 1903, by the Press Publishing Company, New York World.)
BERLIN, Sept. 25.—The St. Louis Exposition is appealing strongly to the popular fancy in Germany. People who are making their holiday plans for next year are already considering a trip to St. Louis, and there can be no doubt that the stream from this country will be enormous. A railway and steamboat agent tells The World correspondent that he expects for every German who visited Chicago a hundred will visit St. Louis.
But the industrial firms are not taking so much interest, although the Exposition Committee is offering them every facility in its power, and the German Government is equally well disposed. It is questionable whether the great Iron concerns will be adequately represented. There is a feeling in the Chambers of Commerce of towns like Essen, Dortmund, Remscheid and Solingen that as long as the heavy American duties on manufactures are imposed any adequate representation will only result in expense without return.

The textile industries, especially silk, will be well represented. The Crefeld and Elberfeld-Barmen silk-weavers will meet soon to consider what steps they will take.
Probably the best-represented industries will be the finer kinds of chemicals and drugs, optical and surgical instruments, and musical instruments in wood and brass. Two or three large firms of organ and piano makers in Stuttgart have been asked to exhibit, but have declined.
German electrical houses will not exhibit on any great scale, nor will the locomotive or railway car builders.
There will be a fine exhibition of dolls and toys, especially dolls. They are now being made in the villages of Tauringia, and will be dressed by the most expert doll dressmakers of Germany.
